About this measure

Encouraging more students to transfer from two-year to four-year programs is an important strategy for meeting Kentucky's Double the Numbers goal. This indicator focuses attention on the need for more transfer frameworks, programs designed to maximize credits that can be applied toward a bachelor's degree, as well as other measures to simplify the transfer process.

This indicator reflects the total number of first-time transfers from KCTCS to four-year public and independent Kentucky institutions during the fall and spring semesters.
